The main speaker of the programme Dr Rajendra Prakash Gupta, superintendent of Jiwaji Vedhshala, gave a powerpoint presentation on the subject. He told that Zero Shadow Day is not the same for all places. It varies from place to place. It occurs when latitude and Sun's declination at a particular place becomes the same. This occurs on the Tropic of Cancer on June 21 and on the Tropic of Capricorn on December 22. On that day the time is midday that is 12 noon according to local time of the place.
