Analysis

The number of students admitted against earmarked seats for Reserved Category students on the whole is

The data of Admissions and Scholarship exhibit the fact that the admissions of students belonging to Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and Other Backward Castes against the sanctioned seats for reserved categories are quite low. The reasons behind this is that the students in these categories who have high percentage in the school compete for order of merit with the General Category students and get admitted on the unreserved seats. The overall representation of students belonging to Scheduled Tribes is relatively low in total admissions.

Nevertheless, the actual numbers of Reserved Category students admitted reveal the fact that intake of the students from Categories of SC, SC and OBC are quite high in the college. Similarly, the number of students belonging to these categories availing Scholarships is also reasonably high. The students who do not avail Scholarships from these categories fall out of the eligibility criterion of income.
